UNCLE SAM AND GREATER AMERICA
The killing of four men in Mississippi in a quarrel over a doctor's bill should be a warning to doctors who recklessly persist in trying to collect bills.

It is computed that there is $400,000, 000 in gold and jewels at the bottom of the sea on the route between England and India; but there is no telling how much lies on the bottom between the United States and Europe.

WHAT'S the use for Colonel TOM STATTY's Bi-metallic Club anyhow? Haven't we all the bi-metal that is necessary with each dollar bill just as much as every other dollar? Will Mr. STATTY or any other man, tell us just how he is going to make Uncle Sam's money any better than it now is? Does he think it can be done by having one dollar worth more, or less, than another dollar?

Applications Opened For the Principals in the Street Fair Wedding.

It's a fact that there will be a public wedding at the Street Fair Friday.

As announced a few days since parties who contemplated marriage on that day to send their names and addresses to John W. Winter, President, and on yesterday at 10 a. m. Mr. Winter was to select the couple.

This was done by placing the sealed application in a hat and drawing one out, there being altogether eleven applicants.

The names of the parties who are to marry have not been made public, but Mr. Winter informs The Leader that the groom-to-be is one of Maysville's prominent citizens and a well known gentleman, while the bride-elect is also taken on this place.

The wedding is to take place on a elevated stage Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the Rev. J. W. Porter of the First Baptist Church is to perform the ceremony.

A large list of presents before published have been offered by the business people of the city to the couple.

They made a rule that only medicines of absolute purity and safety could be admitted to the World's Fair.

When it came to sarsaparilla they accepted but one:

ONE IS DEAD.

Rivalry for a woman's hand fought a duel While En Route to the Home of the Fair One.

GREENVILLE, Ky., May 24.—Rivalry for a woman's hand caused Riley Bethel and a young man named Serogins to engage in a duel to the death in Hillsdale, three miles from here. The encounter took place on the road, near the home of the young woman, who was the unwilling cause of the tragedy. Bethel and Serogins had both been paying attention to her for a long while and were terribly jealous of one another. They met, both en route to her home. A quarrel was soon on, and they engaged in a rough and tumble fight. According to the reports that have reached here, Bethel drew his knife and began cutting Serogins. The latter to defend himself, managed to draw his revolver, and shot Bethel through the body. He died but a short time, Serogins surrendered himself, and is now in jail.

Filipino Commissioners Spent Tuesday With the American Commissioners.

THEY ARE SEEKING INFORMATION.

Informed That Their Personal Rights Would Be Guaranteed Them as Under American Constitution.

Commissioners Approve American Policy of Separation of Church and State—They Are Personally Pleased With Plan of Government Offered.

MANILA, May 24.—The Filipino commissioners spent Tuesday at the residence of the American commissioners. They discussed every point of the scheme of government, and the peace proclamation details, asking for information as to what personal rights would be guaranteed them.

Col. Charles Dwyer, of the American commission, explained that they be the same as under the United States constitution. The Filipinos also desired information as to the school system to be established and approved, the American policy of the separation of church and state. They chiefly objected to the scheme on the ground that it gave them personal liberty which they knew they would have, but did not give them political liberty.

Finally, the Filipinos said they were personally pleased with the plan, but could not endorse it officially.

During the day the Filipino commissioners called upon Maj. Gen. Otis, and they will repeat their call Wednesday.

There is much comment here on the outgoing the Filipino envoys are enjoying. They are arrayed in blue coats, scarlet trousers and gold lace, and they drive about the city, reveling in the attention heaped on them, which is evidently exceedingly gratifying to them.

They are the centers of continual levees a Filipino houses, where they have been entertained and have had every opportunity to advance the interests of their mission. Military sentiment disapproves of the Filipinos being lionized by their civilian element. Gen. Otis, of ante-bellum experience, and coming to the Philippines with a sense of discussion, has maintained the attitude he assumes with the first commission. He has no other to make the Filipinos say that they lay down their arms in terms. The army believes that if it intend to remain in the Philippine islands, it will be cheaper in the long run to whip the insurgents so thoroughly that they will have no opportunity to surrender rather than to parley with them and make terms which they would construe as a compromise. The army is also of the opinion that in the first course may cost more men and more money in the beginning than the latter, it will prove an effectual damper upon future insurrections, whereas, if the war was ended by a compromise, the professional revolutionists among the Tagals may be encouraged to try again in few years.

Prof. Schurman, speaking of the commission's policy, said, "I believe force was necessary because they thought us weaklings and cowards; but I believe also that conciliation should accompany force. My endeavor has been ever since I came here to exercise conciliation."

The professor is most optimistic as to the result of the negotiations and believes that the scheme of government proposed by the American commission will ultimately be adopted. Rosario, a Filipino congressman who was a resident of Manila and formerly Aguinaldo's commissary general, accompanied by an insurgent captain, called upon Maj. Gen. Otis today, and announced that "We desire to surrender our person and property into the hands of the Americans."

The surrender was accepted by Chaplain Pierce, of the 14th regiment, who knew Rosario before the war. Rosario corresponded in cipher with Gen. Luna, as he has been closely watched by the officials at Tarlac since his insurrection. He was weakened by the Rosario only escaped by persuading Gen. Luna to send him on a secret mission to Manila for the purpose of collecting funds. With the captain, ten men and their families, Rosario fled at night through the swamps and mountains, passed the lines of both armies, and entered Manila Monday evening. He has been liberated by parole.

According to the story told by Rosario, Gen. Luna is absolute dictator and Aguinaldo fears him. Every Filipino leader, it is added, suspects the others of treachery. The recent meeting of the Filipino congress was to secure a new cabinet, and the question of peace was not formally considered as the members feared Gen. Luna's displeasure. The Filipino government was unable to secure a secretary of the treasury. All those who were offered the portfolio declined to accept it.

A PEACE JUBILEE.

Three Days' Festivities Were Inaugurated at the National Capital on Tuesday.

IMPOSING PARADE AND FIREWORKS.

Day Opened With Boom of Big Guns From the Dolphin, Church Chimes and Steam Whistles.

Probably 75,000 People Witnessed the Fireworks, Which Included a Realistic Reproduction of the Battle at Manila.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Beginning with an imposing parade of military and other armed organizations, and closing with a display of fireworks at night, the national capital Tuesday inaugurated a three days' peace jubilee. The main thoroughfares of the city and public buildings were decorated with bunting, and the programme of parades and festivities has drawn a large number of visitors. With the exception of a shower, which was not sufficient duration to mar the occasion, the weather was ideal and Washington has Tuesday worn its inauguration aspect. The parade, which was the feature of the first day, moved down Pennsylvania avenue between cheering throngs, through the handsome court of honor in front of the white house, and passed in review before the president and a distinguished party of public officials.

The day opened with the boom of big guns from the Dolphin, which, anchored off the navy yard, fired the national salute at sunrise and church chimes and hundreds of steam whistles joined in the noisy chorus. At noon the departments closed and poured their thousands out to join the crowds on the streets and at the same hour a salute of 45 guns was fired.

The president and Secretaries Hay and Gage, who stood on a small platform jutting from the stand were repeatedly and tumultuously applauded as they uncovered each time the American colors trooped by. Gen. Wheeler was accorded the largest demonstration. In full uniform he rode in a carriage. He was everywhere cheered. As he reached the reviewing stand he was greeted by the president. The people went wild. Another interesting and significant incident was the cheering of Sousa's new march, "Hands Across the Sea." One of the bands struck up this stirring air as the reviewing stand was reached. The applause which greeted was started by the diplomats, spread through the stand and broke in such a roar along the whole length of the court of honor. The parade was three-quarters of an hour passing the reviewing stand.

Probably 75,000 people went to the review of the parade. To view the magnificent display of fireworks, which included a realistic reproduction of the battle of Manila, portraits of President McKinley, Adm. Dewey and of other notable characters of the war. President and Mrs. McKinley and most of the members of the cabinet ladies of the families occupied vantage seats and were interested spectators of the exhibition.

There were many special electrical devices on business houses, while the court of honor, stretching along Pennsylvania avenue in front of the president's house, formed an object of much interest to thousands of spectators. The great enterprises were handsomely illuminated and decorated as was also the grand stand from which the president and his cabinet viewed the parade in the day.

GRANT'S BIRTHPLACE.

People of Point Pleasant Want to Purchase 500 Acres.

A NATIONAL PARK PROPOSED.

The residents of Clermont county, O., are working up a plan to buy 500 acres of land at Point Pleasant and convert it into a National Park in honor of Ulysses S. Grant.

Point Pleasant is the birthplace of the great soldier-statesman, and David Murphy of Clermont county conceived the plan.

He thinks that sufficient funds could be obtained by popular subscription to buy the land, and the matter has already been taken up by the residents of the neighborhood, and, if the Government will agree to help, they expect soon to realize their plans.
